To be a baby at this season of the year is a real misfortune, but to be a poor,

To be a baby at this season of the year is a real misfortune, but to be a poor, sick baby is a calamity.

It is well for humanity's sake that infancy is irrational, otherwise the population of earth would be meagre, for no reasoning being would live through the pains, pins and privations that rasp, prick and torture the helpless, brainless, but sensitive child.

There is no form of brute creation that could possibly endure the fate of baby-hood doomed to tenement-house life. To wrestle with the ills of heredity and the evils of their surroundings would try the mighty strength of the savage. But nature is kind of will cling to life and fight for existential will cling to life and fight for existential to be a poor, sick baby is a calamity.

And then there is at 23 Washington heights of his did floor and back flat, a young mother sick with floor and back flat, a young mother sick with floor and back flat, a young mother sick with floor and back flat, a young mother sick with floor and back flat, a young mother sick with floor and back flat, a young mother sick with floor. Two small children are at the belief of earth would be meagre, for no reasoning being would live through the box is and priction. Two small children are at the belief of earth would be meagre, for no reasoning being would live through the box is and priction. Two small children are at the belief of earth would be meagre, for no redsoning woman or the sadder picture, the dying woman or the sand one cannot afford to let the Summer go by and not take in this attraction and one cannot afford to let the Summer go by and not take in this attraction problems.

There is no form of brute creation that could possibly endure the fate of baby-he house. All that prolongs the lives of this unhappy trio comes from the subject of the sand one cannot afford to let the Summer go by and not take in this current is unique and one cannot afford to let the Summer go by and not take in this a no other man can this coming week at the time it took them to cover the dist ence with a tenacity of purpose that is almost super-human.

Up in Fortieth street, close to the North River, there is an infantile hero who deserves to wear a hat with plumes. a cap with bells or the chaplet that pride weaves for the brave. Prince Henry is one and a half years of Several consultations have been held, and a serious study is being made of the insidious malady.

In the mean time the unfortunate little fellow is in mortal agony. Nothing seems to strengthen but the cough; his eyes are intensely brilliant, his flesh is as colorless as porcelain, and so feeble is his strength that you could imprison him in a newspaper and bind him fast with a few yards of cotton thread.

Were there 500 free physicians in Tur. EVENING WORLD'S COTPS every minute of every man's time might be filled with just such pathetic cases as Henry's. As it is, the demands are great and the districts so far reaching that it takes a doctor from ten days to two weeks to complete one circuit. She continued her journey to Cincinnati and was met at the depot by her hostand, who knew nothing of the great sorrow which had befalled them.

As the train rolled into the depot the husband rushed over to the ladies' coach and, greeting his wife with a smile, said.

"How is the baby?"

The poor woman grasped the rail of the platform for support and was anable to respond, so choked was she with emotion. He hastened towards her and eagerly asked. "What has happened?"

"Baby's dead," she sobbed, and fell back into the arms of a passenger. The husband, sunned by the shock, resled like a drunken man and fell senseless into the arms of the brakeman. The unhappy couple were removed into the waiting room at the depot and ister were sent to their home.
